

Year 10 Overview

Topic: Running Wild by Michael Morpurgo

Dear all,

We are going to be reading and studying the text: Running Wild by Michael Morpurgo

This term the Year 10 classes will be studying the text and learning about setting, plot and characters. Three of their weekly English sessions will be based around this book. The other session will be allocated for reading and literacy based skills required in other subject areas.

There are some resources here on the school website.

Remember these activities are guides and do not have to be completed. Equally, if there are other activities that pupils complete please send them in too.

Any work completed on this topic can be sent to:

hcorreia@st-ants.org

Other ideas for English:

- Read/be read to or share a story. Talk about the story afterwards. (If you are a member of WSCC library service they have set up Ebooks and audio books which can be borrowed.)
- There is a separate folder under English called First News. The digital newspaper can be found there. We sometimes look at the newspapers in class and choose a story to talk about. The new newspaper is updated weekly.

Links to help

The BBC website has lots of great links for literacy activities. Try 'Spelling with the Spellits':

<http://www.bbc.co.uk/schools/spellits/index.shtml>